How to update the Nav DVD from Europe v7.8 to v7.9... I've not seen a post like this one. There's no need to reset to factory settings (since the System is already factory reset.) But here is how I did it. 1) You must have DVD player in the car. 2) There has to be a map in your DVD player, if there is not then no problem, you should be able to look up country codes using YouTube. 3) - Convert the map to TIF format using siong's Converter tool for DVi 2.0. The map in your DVD player will be a patched version of the map found on the DVD. In your DVD player menu system, select "MP4 Player Settings" and then select "Options" (Do not select "Reset Settings"). From this menu, select "DVD player." Find your DVD and select it. Find the DVD in the "DVD Store" listed and select "Unlock DVD Data" and "OK". This process will unlock all of the additional information stored on the DVD. The DVD can be re-written back to the disc via CD burning software. Select "Back Up Data" from the "DVD player" menu. This should also clear the associated data from the DVD (which may make the playback software in some DVD players fail). Finally, you must erase the content of the disc to make room for new data. Open the DVD to "Record" mode and follow the on-screen prompts to make the new data. After this process, you should have the latest map on your DVD. The DVD player menu will look like this: NOTE: You will NOT have the new maps on your DVD player unless it is in recode mode. You will have to have the latest map in either

DVD or USB memory.
