27 Apr 2020 20-27-2020 The oldest cave paintings are in central Asia: the earliest known painted designs date from about 40,000 to 35,000 years ago.[46] Cave paintings in India date back 25,000 years and in South Africa back from 40,000 years ago.[46] The oldest painting in the Americas is on a Lascaux, France pebble in 14,000 years old. Sri Lanka, as well as Mihintale, was also a regular destination for the Elgin expeditions, with 15 human skeletal remains found at Mihintale (which may be among those from Elgin's ship).[citation needed] In 1862, the Royal Geographical Society awarded the Government of the Colony of Ceylon a prize for the promotion of British trade in the Indian Ocean, which was handed over to William Farish, who founded the Ceylon Royal Portrait Society. Horsfield and Farish were the first Europeans to make systematic efforts to compile an ethnographic description of Sri Lanka. They visited Thimbirigasyaya, which was named Thambirigala by the Sinhalese, in 1862.[24] Farish was the first to recognize the importance of Muziris, whose ruins were, at that time, unknown in Europe. He visited the site in 1864, and sent copies of his sketches to the Royal Geographical Society. In 1865, Nathaniel Pearce, chief surveyor to the Sultan of Muscat and Oman, also visited the site, and sent a detailed report to the Royal Geographical Society. Following the founding of the Ceylon Branch of the Royal Asiatic Society in 1884, Farish was instrumental in securing the collection of ethnographical objects, which had been amassed over a period of eight years by Joseph Daniel Coomaraswamy (1824–1907), president of the Ceylon Branch of the Royal Asiatic Society. The specimens collected by Farish and his associates are now housed in the British Museum.[24] Official website Official Site Professional business and personal data organization that presents software solutions geared toward business professionals in the areas of finance, accounting, and human resources.
