Bradwell Guitars - One for the Ages In the field of luthiery, the world of acoustic guitar making has long since been dominated by names such as Martin, Taylor, Gibson, and Takamine. These guys have made the instrument a staple of the music industry. They have set a high standard. But where are the names that match them? Who is the next Gibson or Martin? Do we need a new name or can we just keep using the names that were there before? Well, Bradwell Guitars is here to answer these questions. Bradwell Guitars has been designing and producing quality acoustic and electric guitars since 1996. The first guitars to be mass produced were the Bradwell "First Generation" and the "Micro 1200." The sound of these guitars can still be heard in the greatest guitarists today. Later came the "Gemini," "1000," and "1000C" series. The "Gemini" and "1000C" series are true guitars for all levels of players. With the "1000" series, Bradwell Guitars had created a guitar that was not only a true guitar, but also at a reasonable price. The "Bradwell One" series is a line of guitars that are designed

What's New In StackOverflow Offline Reader?

StackOverflowOfflineReader is a tool to quickly find questions that contain a specific set of keywords and generate one PDF per question that can be opened offline. For example, StackOverflowOfflineReader will identify all questions that contain the keyword "how" and generate a single PDF per question. There are two prerequisites: 1. You must be logged into StackOverflow.com. 2. You must have the "StackOverflow Incognito" Google Chrome extension installed. This is an advanced tool - advanced uses include: 1. Viewing a list of questions that contain a specific set of keywords 2. Viewing the current question in a new tab in your browser 3. Viewing a list of questions from a specific time period 4. Viewing the questions from a specific IP address 5. Viewing a question without showing answers or accepting an answer 6. Viewing a question in a particular user's inbox. 7. Viewing a question with a particular set of answers
